Physical Description:

Jarvis appears to be in his mid to late twenties. He usually dresses appropriate to the situation at hand, and is very good at fitting in. He prefers, however, to wear 'corp' type clothes (suits, slacks, comfortable shoes), since those are the societal norm. His eyes are brown. He is athletically built, and of an average height.

Word on the Street:

>> There's very little info on this guy. It's almost like he didn't exist before a few months ago. He's got the nod from the right people, though.

>> H.K.

>> Yeah. I've got nothing, and I did some serious digging for a fixer looking to do a background check. The guy must have paid a fortune. Nothing on social networks, camera sweeps, corp DB's, etc.

>> Stumpy

>> I met him last month. He's American. Non-regional dialect. I'd place him east coast. Probably upstate New York. Oh, and he's definitely awakened. Doesn't appear to be, but I can tell a fashion spell when I see one.

>> Beaky

Personal Commentary:

*Well, you know what they say... "All the world's a stage;
And all the men and women merely players"...And one man in his time plays many parts.*

Roleplaying Notes:

Rob is relaxed and at home in any situation... quite literally. He is not an 'actor', he's simply been trained to be so (and turned into quite the sociopath in the process). He doesn't like to talk about his past, and he lives very much for the moment. The one thing that makes him most uncomfortable is that even when he's relaxing, he feels like he's still 'on the job', playing a role, and not truly himself.
