

Vital Stats: "Bulldog"

Age: 36

Height: 1.85m

Weight: 122KB

Hair: Black

Eyes: Mirrored Silver

Gender: Male

Metatype: Human

Awakened: No

Primary Role: Fire Support

Secondary Role: Close Combat

Physical Description:

Bulldog fits the archetypal picture of the 'street samurai'. He stands 6'2" tall, and his weight is about 300lbs due to muscle mass and cyberware. His skin is a medium dark olive color and his hair is a short-cropped and blue-black. He dresses in paramilitary gear of all types.

Word on the Street:

>> Word on the street is former Lone Star, former corp, or a little of both. Guy isn't military, but obviously has a good amount of training.

>> H.K.

>> He's also probably one of the foremost experts on firearms that I've ever come across outside of an Ares Arms salesman.

>> Warcrow

>> Oh, yeah. I saw him at the firing range a few weeks back. It was like watching a clinic. The guy was all but quoting the latest Ares Arms catalogue every time he reloaded.

>> White Eagle

Personal Commentary:

Yeah, you're wrong there, actually. HK only stopped producing them for military clients when they introduced the superior Urban Fighter. If you can afford it, go for the later model; while they have very similar ballistics, the sealed magazines are worth the cost...

Roleplaying Notes:

Bulldog mixes natural talent with cybernetically-improved physical ability and just a touch of bioware. He tends to come across as sarcastic and something of a wiseass, but he'll do anything once he says he'll do it. Having grown up in the sprawl himself, he doesn't have many prejudices. Human, orc, elf or troll... he evaluates everyone on a case by case basis.